HIROHITO PROPAGANDA

Some newspapers have been lambasting our state department and the British Broadcasting corporation for banning disparaging remarks about the Japanese emperor in broadcasts. The papers are right when they cite a catalog of war guilt as a basis for their annoyance, but they miss the point of the prohibition.

Nobody thinks that Hirohito is a little god—except the Japs. And therein lies the reason for not broadcasting our opinion of him. A prime objective of propaganda is to create distrust and dignity, but we must approach the objective differently in German and Japanese broadcasts. We can recite Hitler's crimes to the German people, and have them chuckle at them all the same way to give up and get rid of him. But that won't work with the Japanese.

Anyone who knows the Japs well will tell you that to belittle their emperor in broadcasts would be to arouse the whole Japanese nation, military and civilian, in a fierce hatred of the belittlers. No, the allies are not pussyfooting when they don't call Hirohito names of the air. It just isn't good propaganda.—NEA Editorial.

COOKING IN AMERICA

The British, trying to do their best, by the thousands of strange American visitors in their midst, have been learning how to make American dishes. A British publication says that the ministry of food recently announced a demonstration tour for the purpose of teaching housewives of Britain how to cook American style.

It's a nice gesture, and perhaps there really are a few American foods which can now be cooked in the British Isles. Cornbread may come to mind first. But no matter how well baked, it would certainly have an unexpected taste if spread with orange marmalade. Apple pie—well maybe, if everything that goes into good ones were available all at once.

The real difficulty is not international lack of understanding, but something more basic. American recipes are so apt to begin something like: "One cup of butter, two cups of sugar, three cups of flour and four eggs."

Or, "Drain six good-sized onions in plenty of butter."

Or, "Beat one cup of heavy cream till stiff, add confectioner's sugar until." But why go on?—Sanford Herald.

When Bell Airacobra, deadly pursuit planes, are given the works on test flights their 1150 horsepower Allison engines are kept safely lubricated with Sinclair Pennsylvania Motor Oil—the same quality Sinclair Pennsylvania sold by your nearby Sinclair Dealer.

Now that your car must last longer, keep it safely lubricated with the same quality oil that protects the Airacobra's engine at 395 m.p.h. Have your Sinclair Dealer drain and refill your crankcase with Sinclair Pennsylvania Motor Oil every 1,000 miles. It lasts so long it saves money as well as your engine.

By Malcolm Miller

You've really got a swell comedy coming to the Prince Theatre this Sunday-Monday, a picture that will live in your memory as one of the most hilarious comedies you have sat through in some time. That picture is "His Butler's Sister," and it stars Deanne Durbin, Franchot Tone and Pat O'Brien.

When a man has a butler who has a sister as beautiful as Deanne, a fellow is very apt to fall in love with his butler's sister. Well, that's just what happens in the case of Franchot Tone and Deanne Durbin.

Of course innumerable complications arose during this romantic period, which were embarrassing to both Deanne and Tone, and it took a lot of ingenuity to unravel the affair.

Summing this whole thing up I would say, girl yourselves well, for an evening of gaiety that will tax your anatomy to its limit.

The Tuesday-Wednesday offering brings an old favorite in Richard Dix who offers "The Ghost Ship," and which has Russell Wade, Edith Barrett, Ben Bard and Edmund Clover lending Mr. Dix excellent support.

In this picture Dix is cast as a blood-mad sea captain whose crew is fear crazed and whose actions during the eventful voyage are such that every moment of this exciting picture is fraught with suspenseful thrills that will leave one limp at its finish.

Thursday-Friday ushers in Basil Rathbone and Nigel Bruce, starred in another clever mystery under the title "Sherlock Holmes Faces Death."

The story was written with an eye to the present conflict and is very modern. Of course all of the ingenious methods of crime detection are employed by "Sherlock" and there are some "unreeling" that are exciting enough to cause you to sit with bated breath.

"The Apache Kid" is the Western picture slated for the members of the Six Shooters Gang, all reports it should be a diller for real outdoor action and thrills. All short subjects during the week look good and I hope you will enjoy them.

Next week I'll be in Washington. Tune in your radios on Tuesday, May 9th, as that is the day I will be presented with the engraved Medallion, the illuminated scroll, letter from Mr. Henry Morgenthau and "E" buttons for the members of my staff. If I get to say a word over the air I'll send you a greeting.

See you at the movies—Mal.

Now that the election is history I would like to refute a rumor that was started in the Glades in regard to road work on Chastain Farms.

Chastain farms have been developed from land that was valued at $4 per acre and today is valued at $100 per acre. This was done, by ditching and diking these lands and bringing them into cultivation and onto the tax rolls, WITHOUT any assistance from the county whatsoever.

In developing these lands Chastain Farms have stood all expense of road building thereon. We have not had any road assistance from the county and DO NOT NEED any now, despite the fact that Chastain Farms pay taxes in the amount of $7,000.00.

The roads on Chastain Farms are private roads and we expect to keep them so and do not plan to ask for any county aid in their maintenance.

I regret that some folks have taken it upon themselves to start this rumor but am glad to be able to refute it because there is not a word of truth in it.
